VIDEO 1 — "Making Tax Digital for Builders: Are You In?" (target 7 min)

What's rendered and ready

Fourteen vertical videos (1080×1920, H.264, no audio, burned-in kinetic typography). They work silently — which matters, because most social video is watched on mute — and they're brand-locked to the same pine/orange system as everything else.

Posting notes

- Upload natively to each platform. Never cross-post a TikTok-watermarked file to Reels — the algorithm demotes it.
- Add a trending audio track at low volume on TikTok/Reels. The videos are silent by design so you can do this. Use the platform's own commercial sound library on business accounts.

- Add a text hook in the platform's own caption overlay for the first 1.5s — platform-native text is weighted by the algorithm in a way burned-in text isn't.
- Post 12:00–13:00 or 18:00–20:00 UK. Builders check phones at lunch and after they've packed up.

Long-form YouTube scripts

These are full scripts. Read them out or feed them to HeyGen/ElevenLabs (both already in the Build Manual's stack at ~£25/mo combined).

[0:00 — HOOK, no intro, straight in]

If you're self-employed in the building trade, there's a decent chance HMRC changed your obligations in April and nobody told you. This video tells you in seven minutes whether it applies to you and what you actually have to do. No intro, no jargon. [0:38 — WHO'S IN] Making Tax Digital for Income Tax. It started in April 2026, and it applies to sole traders and landlords with qualifying income over fifty thousand pounds. April 2027, that threshold drops to thirty thousand. April 2028, twenty thousand. So even if you're out now, look at the year after next, because a lot of people reading twenty grand as a low bar for a building firm are going to find they're in it by 2028. HMRC looks at your qualifying income from the tax year two years before. So for the April 2026 start, they're looking at your 2024/25 figures. The ones you already filed. [2:05 — THE GROSS TRAP] Here's the pa

VIDEO 2 — "The VAT Domestic Reverse Charge, Explained Once and Properly" (target 9 min)

*[0:00] Five years this has been law, and I still see it invoiced w is, properly, in nine minutes. If you invoice construction work to another business, this affects what goes on your invoice and how much cash is in your account. [0:45 — WHAT IT DOES] Normally you charge VAT, you collect it, you hand it to HMRC at the quarter end. Under the reverse charge you don't charge it at all. Your customer accounts for both sides of the VAT themselves. Same tax, different person handling it. HMRC brought it in to stop missing-trader fraud in construction — someone charging VAT, collecting it, and disappearing. [1:50 — THE FIVE TESTS] All five must be true. One: the supply is construction work within the CIS definition. Two: both of you are VAT registered. Three: both of you are registered for CIS. Four: the customer is not an end user. Five: it's standard or reduced rated — zero-rated work, like a new build, is out. All five yes, reverse charge. Any one no

VIDEO 3 — "Why Your Building Firm Is Always Skint" (target 10 min)

Structure follows the Day 18 LinkedIn post exactly: the four drains (real payment terms, retentions, the reverse charge float, CIS deductions), worked on a £400k firm, then the four numbers to watch. Use the Day 18 post as the script spine — it's written to be read aloud.

VIDEO 4 — "Quarter-End in Under an Hour" (target 11 min)

Walk through the seven jobs from Week 4, one per chapter, showing each on screen.

Shorts extraction — get 5 clips from every long video

Every long-form video should produce at least four Shorts. Cut at the natural chapter marks:

LONG VIDEO	CLIP	HOOK LINE FOR THE FIRST 1.5S
MTD	The gross trap (2:05–3:20)	"Your bank balance is lying to you about MTD"
MTD	The four dates (4:41–5:35)	"Four dates. Screenshot this."
MTD	What an update actually is (3:20–4:41)	"It's not a tax return. Calm down."
Reverse charge	End users (4:10–5:30)	"This one word decides whether you charge VAT"
Reverse charge	Cash flow (7:50–8:40)	"You might be owed money every single month"
Skint	Real payment terms (2:40–4:00)	"Your 30-day terms are actually 57 days"
Skint	Retentions (4:00–5:20)	"Go and count your retentions"

Cut command (change the timestamps):

ffmpeg -i long.mp4 -ss 00:02:05 -to 00:03:20 \
  -vf "crop=ih*9/16:ih,scale=1080:1920" -c:a copy short-clip.mp4

If you want AI presenter videos (HeyGen)

The Build Manual already budgets HeyGen + ElevenLabs at ~£25/mo. My recommendation: don't use an AI avatar as the face of Klyara. The whole positioning is "a real construction specialist, not a call centre" — an obviously synthetic presenter undercuts that, and UK trades audiences are unusually quick to call it out.

Use them for what they're genuinely good at:

- Voiceover only (ElevenLabs) over the kinetic typography videos, where there's no claimed face
- Client-facing explainer videos inside the portal — "how to snap a receipt", "how to read your P&L" — where nobody expects a personality
- The website's how-it-works video, if Craig genuinely won't go on camera

For social, a 30-second phone video of Craig in a van beats a polished avatar every time. That's not a style preference, it's what converts in this market.

The line that matters

My recommendation: don't use an AI avatar as the face of Klyara.

Animated logo sting

ffmpeg recipe for a 2-second intro/outro sting using the rendered logo — drop it on the front of long-form videos:

ffmpeg -y -loop 1 -i assets/logo/klyara-lockup-pine-bg.png -t 2 \
  -vf "scale=1920:-2,zoompan=z='min(zoom+0.0008,1.06)':d=48:s=1920x1080,\ fade=t=in:st=0:d=0.4,fade=t=out:st=1.6:d=0.4" \

Thumbnail rule for YouTube

Four words maximum, in Bricolage 800, on pine, with one brass word. Face optional but helps. Never use a red arrow and a shocked face — it's wrong for a financial services brand and the audience distrusts it.

Working thumbnail lines:

ARE YOU IN?          (brass: IN)
20% OR 30%?          (brass: 30%)
COUNT YOUR RETENTIONS (brass: COUNT)
ALWAYS SKINT?        (brass: SKINT)
