Klyara — A Year of Google Business Profile Posts

52 posts, dated, written. The highest-return five minutes in the whole pack.

Why this document exists

Google Business Profile posts no longer expire — Google stopped that in January 2021 — but only the newest one shows prominently, and a profile whose last post is four months old reads as abandoned. A profile with a fresh post every week looks active; one with a post from March looks abandoned, and prospects read that as "are they still trading?"

Posting weekly forever is trivially easy for two weeks and then quietly stops happening. So here is a year of them, dated, tied to the real deadline calendar, ready to schedule.

Rules that make GBP posts work:

- 150–300 words is the sweet spot. Google truncates around 1,500 characters but nobody reads that far.
- First sentence carries the whole thing — that's what shows in the preview.
- One CTA button. Learn more pre-AML, Book once supervised.
- Add a photo to every post. Use the rendered assets in assets/posts/.
- Mention Guildford or a named town in most of them. It is a local ranking and relevance signal.
- Never keyword-stuff. Google devalues it and it reads badly.

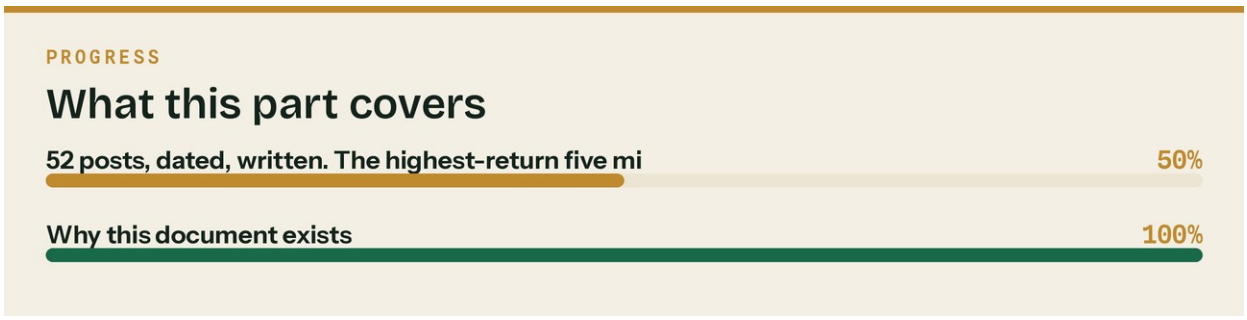

Schedule: every Monday, 08:00. It takes five minutes with a scheduler, ten by hand.

The line that matters

Google Business Profile posts no longer expire — Google stopped that in January 2021 — but only the newest one shows prominently, and a profile whose last post is four months old reads as abandoned.

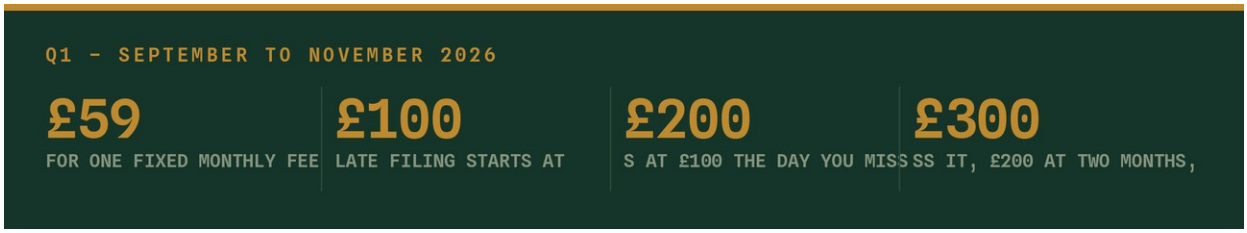

In this part

52 posts, dated, written. The highest-return five minutes in the whole pack. · Why this document exists

Read top to bottom. The bar is just how far through the part you are.

Q1 — September to November 2026

W1 · Mon 14 Sep — Launch

Klyara is open — the back office for building firms across Guildford, Woking, Godalming and Farnham.

Bookkeeping, VAT coding, payroll and Making Tax Digital quarterly filing, for one fixed monthly fee from £59 + VAT.

Construction only. Not general accountants who happen to have a few building clients.

Free MTD guide and twelve calculators at klyara.com — no email required.

W2 · Mon 21 Sep — CIS deadline

CIS returns are due by the 19th of every month. Friday this week.

Late filing starts at £100 the day you miss it, £200 at two months, and £300 or 5% of your deductions at six. That's on a single return.

The one people pay for nothing: if you're registered as a contractor and paid no subcontractors this month, you still file a nil return. Two minutes, or £100.

Free CIS calculator at klyara.com.

W3 · Mon 28 Sep — Retentions

Go and count your retentions. Actually count them, not "roughly".

3% held on jobs that finished eighteen months ago. Defects liability period long over. Nobody ever asked for it back, so nobody ever sent it.

A Surrey firm that does this properly usually finds somewhere between four and fifteen thousand pounds they'd mentally written off.

The whole system is three columns: job, amount held, release date. Free tracker at klyara.com.

W4 · Mon 5 Oct — Quarter end countdown

The MTD quarter closes on Monday 5 October, and the update is due 7 November.

If you're in Making Tax Digital, everything from 6 July needs to be in digital records by then. If July and August are currently a bag in the van, that's a weekend's work now and a crisis in November.

Start with the bank feed — connected and feeding, not exported and typed in. Ten minutes, and it does most of the job.

Free seven-step quarter-end checklist at klyara.com.

W5 · Mon 12 Oct — Quarter closed

The MTD quarter closed today. 6 July to 5 October is now a closed period.

What happens next: the quarterly update is due by 7 November — 33 days. The next quarter runs 6 October to 5 January, due 7 February. The final declaration stays 31 January, as it always was.

If you worked through the checklist, you're done six weeks early. If not, 33 days is comfortable — but start now, not in November.

klyara.com

W6 · Mon 19 Oct — Reverse charge, local angle

A Guildford-specific VAT problem worth twenty minutes of your time.

Most firms round here run high-value domestic work — extensions, lofts, refurbs on period property — alongside jobs for main contractors. Those two are treated completely differently for VAT.

A homeowner is an end user: the reverse charge does not apply, you charge VAT as normal. A main contractor invoicing your work onward is not an end user: reverse charge applies, no VAT on the invoice.

Firms doing both get it wrong in both directions. Free checker at klyara.com.

W7 · Mon 26 Oct — CIS deadline

CIS returns due today for the month to 5 October. Electronic payment by the 22nd.

Two things people get wrong at this point in the month. Nil returns still have to be filed — being registered and paying nobody does not excuse you. And if you've genuinely stopped using subcontractors, tell HMRC to make the scheme inactive, or you'll be filing nil returns forever until you forget one.

Klyara files CIS for building firms across Guildford and Surrey, every month, on time.

W8 · Mon 2 Nov — Gross payment status

If you're a subcontractor having 20% deducted from every invoice and you've never applied for gross payment status, you may be lending HMRC a lot of money for free.

On £120,000 of labour invoicing, 20% is £24,000 sitting with HMRC instead of in your account — and you don't get it back until you reconcile, which can be a year later.

Three tests: business, turnover, compliance. The compliance one catches people, but it only looks at the last twelve months. Failed before? Twelve clean months and you can apply again.

klyara.com

W9 · Mon 9 Nov — MTD deadline imminent

Your MTD quarterly update is due Saturday, 7 November, for the period 6 July to 5 October.

If your records are up to date this is a ten-minute job. If they aren't: connect the bank feed, categorise in bulk rather than one at a time, add the cash purchases, submit.

Remember what this submission is — a summary of totals. It is not a tax return, there is nothing to pay, and you can correct it later. Something reasonable on time beats something perfect late.

klyara.com

W10 · Mon 16 Nov — Pricing and margin

Three costs that never make it into a builder's quote.

Your own time off the tools — the quoting, the site visits, the ordering, the chasing. Budget half a day of it for every day on site.

The cost of being paid late. An invoice paid in 60 days instead of 30 is a job you funded for an extra month.

The jobs that didn't happen. Quote six to win two and the four you lost belong in the two you won.

Free job margin calculator at klyara.com.

W11 · Mon 23 Nov — CIS deadline

CIS returns due Thursday, 19 November, for the month to 5 November.

If you're a subcontractor rather than a contractor, this is also the week to chase any missing payment and deduction statements. Every contractor who deducted from you has to give you one within 14 days of the tax month end.

Every pound you can't evidence is tax you'll pay twice. Chase them now while the contractor still remembers the job — in February, they won't.

klyara.com

W12 · Mon 30 Nov — Late payment

You are not a bank, but you keep being treated like one.

On a business-to-business debt you can charge interest at 8% above base rate, plus a fixed sum per invoice of £40, £70 or £100 depending on size, plus reasonable recovery costs. It applies by law — you don't need it in your contract.

Almost nobody claims it. But putting the entitlement on your invoice template costs nothing and quietly moves you up the payment run.

klyara.com

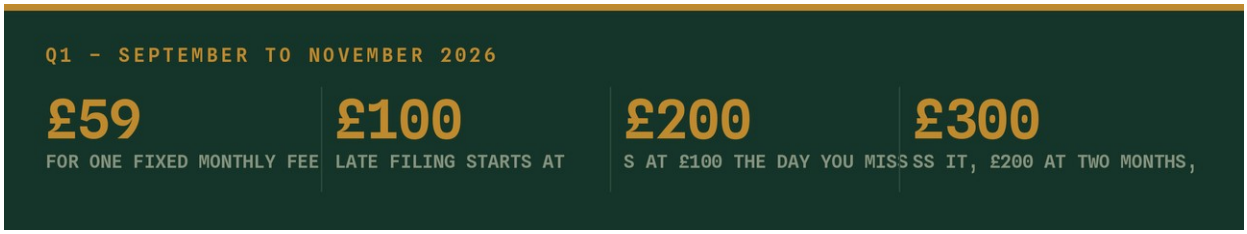

W13 · Mon 7 Dec — The January hole

Plan for January now, because January is where building firms come unstuck.

Sites shut around the 20th of December. Nobody pays invoices between Christmas and New Year. You come back on the 5th to slow starts and bad weather. Then on 31 January HMRC wants your tax bill and your first payment on account — which can be 150% of what you were expecting.

Five weeks of reduced income, then the largest payment of your year.

Work out what you'll owe on 31 January. Now, not then. klyara.com

Q2 — December 2026 to February 2027

W14 · Mon 14 Dec — Shutdown checklist

One hour before you shut down for Christmas makes January materially easier.

Every invoice out — anything sent after the 18th sits until the second week of January anyway. Chase everything outstanding, because "just tidying up before the break" is the most acceptable chasing line of the year. CIS return for the month to 5 December, due Saturday the 19th — so file by Friday the 18th. Three months of receipts, one sitting.

And know your 31 January number before you go.

Free checklist at klyara.com.

W15 · Mon 21 Dec — Deadlines

Dates before the break, for anyone running a building firm in Surrey.

Fri 18 Dec — CIS return for the month to 5 December. The 19th is a Saturday this year.
Tue 5 Jan — the MTD quarter ends, 6 October to 5 January.
Sun 31 Jan — final declaration, balancing payment and first payment on account.
Sun 7 Feb — MTD quarterly update due.

Put them in your phone now. Nobody diarises anything in the first week of January.

klyara.com

W16 · Mon 28 Dec — Quiet week

CIS returns are due today for the month to 5 December.

After that: have a proper break. The paperwork will still be there in January and it will not have got any worse.

We're back on 5 January. If something urgent comes up over the break, the number still works — 020 8058 1496.

Klyara — the back office for building firms across Guildford, Woking, Godalming and Farnham.

W17 · Mon 4 Jan — Back

Back, and there are two dates in the next month that matter.

Tuesday 5 January — the MTD quarter ends. Everything from 6 October needs to be in digital records.

Sunday 31 January — final declaration, the balancing payment for 2025/26, and your first payment on account for the current year. That last one catches people: it's normally 50% of last year's bill, paid in advance, on top of what you already owe.

Work out the number this week. klyara.com

W18 · Mon 11 Jan — Payments on account

On 31 January you may be paying two things, not one.

The balancing payment for the year that ended 5 April 2026, and your first payment on account for the current year — normally 50% of last year's bill, in advance. A second follows on 31 July.

So a £6,000 bill with nothing on account is £9,000 on 31 January, not £6,000.

If CIS has been deducted from you all year, you may be owed a refund instead — but only for deductions you can evidence. Chase the missing statements this week.

klyara.com

W19 · Mon 18 Jan — CIS + countdown

Two deadlines this fortnight.

Tuesday 19 January — CIS returns for the month to 5 January.
Sunday 31 January — self assessment, and the payment.

If it isn't filed, file it even if you can't pay. The late filing penalty and the late payment penalty are separate, and filing on time takes the worst one off the table entirely.

If you can't pay, set up Time to Pay with HMRC before the 31st. That conversation is administrative before the deadline and expensive after it.

klyara.com

W20 · Mon 25 Jan — Six days

Six days to 31 January.

The commonest errors we see at this point: CIS deductions entered as income, materials included in the CIS calculation, and the payment on account forgotten entirely.

And when it's done, do one thing — work out what you'll owe next 31 January and start putting it aside monthly. A separate account, a standing order, 25 to 30% of what lands.

Everyone knows this. Almost nobody does it. The ones who do never have a bad January again.

klyara.com

W21 · Mon 1 Feb — Next deadline

Filed on the 31st? Good. Now put 7 February in the diary.

Your MTD quarterly update for 6 October to 5 January is due a week after self assessment, and every year people file on the 31st, exhale, and miss it.

It's a summary of totals from compatible software. Not a return, nothing to pay, correctable later. Ten minutes if your records are current.

Klyara handles the quarters for building firms across Guildford and Surrey, from £59 + VAT a month.

W22 · Mon 8 Feb — Capital allowances

Buying a van or plant before 5 April? The date on the invoice decides which tax year it lands in.

Most plant, machinery, tools and commercial vehicles qualify for the Annual Investment Allowance — full cost off your profits in the year you buy, not spread over the life of the asset.

Buy on 3 April and it comes off this year. Buy on 8 April and it comes off next year. Same van, same money, potentially a different tax rate.

But don't buy things for tax reasons. Spending £30,000 to save at 20% leaves you £24,000 down.

klyara.com

W23 · Mon 15 Feb — CIS + the £30k wave

CIS returns due Friday 19 February for the month to 5 February.

Also worth knowing: from April 2027, Making Tax Digital applies to anyone with qualifying income over £30,000 — measured gross, before CIS comes off.

£30,000 gross is roughly £24,000 in the bank after 20% CIS. Day rates in Surrey being what they are, most full-time subbies round here are in that wave and don't know it.

Check the turnover box on your last return, not your bank statement. klyara.com

W24 · Mon 22 Feb — Six weeks to April

Six weeks until the £30,000 MTD threshold arrives, and the biggest mistake the first wave made was waiting for the start date.

Get the bank feed connected and the receipt habit running now and April is a non-event. Leave it to April and your first quarter is a panic.

Four dates to know: quarters end 5 Jul, 5 Oct, 5 Jan, 5 Apr. Updates due 7 Aug, 7 Nov, 7 Feb, 7 May.

Free 15-page MTD guide at klyara.com, no email required.

W25 · Mon 1 Mar — Year end approaching

Five weeks to the tax year end on 5 April. Worth doing before then:

Get every invoice out and every receipt in. Decide on anything you were going to buy — the date on the invoice decides which year it falls in. Check whether you should be applying for gross payment status, because the compliance test looks at the last twelve months. And chase every outstanding CIS deduction statement while contractors still remember the jobs.

Klyara — construction bookkeeping across Guildford, Woking, Godalming and Farnham. klyara.com

W26 · Mon 8 Mar — Reverse charge refresher

Two minutes that regularly find money.

Take your last ten sales invoices. For each: was it construction work under CIS? Is the customer VAT registered? Are they CIS registered? Did they confirm in writing that they're an end user?

First three yes and the fourth no, the reverse charge applies and you should not have charged VAT.

Then do the same on purchases. If a subbie charged you VAT on a reverse-charge supply, you can't reclaim it — send it back.

Free checker at klyara.com.

Q3 — March to May 2027

W27 · Mon 15 Mar — CIS + statements

CIS returns due Friday 19 March for the month to 5 March.

If you are a subcontractor rather than a contractor, this is also the week to chase any missing payment and deduction statements. Every contractor who deducted from you has to give you one within 14 days of the tax month end.

Every pound you cannot evidence is tax you pay twice. Chase them now, while the contractor still remembers the job.

klyara.com

W28 · Mon 22 Mar — Two weeks to year end

Two weeks to the tax year end on 5 April. Five things worth doing before then.

Get every invoice out. Get every receipt in. Decide on anything you were going to buy, because the invoice date decides which tax year it falls in. Check whether you would now pass the three tests for gross payment status. And chase every outstanding CIS deduction statement.

None of it takes long. All of it is harder in June.

Klyara — construction bookkeeping across Guildford, Woking, Godalming and Farnham. klyara.com

W29 · Mon 29 Mar — The last week

Last week of the tax year. What actually still matters.

Anything you buy has to be in use in the business by 5 April to count for this year. An order placed is not enough.

If you are near the VAT registration threshold, know where you are — it is measured on a rolling twelve months, not on the tax year.

And if you are in the April 2027 MTD wave, this is the last quiet week before it starts. Get the bank feed connected now and April is a non-event.

klyara.com

W30 · Mon 5 Apr — Tax year ends · the £30k wave begins

The tax year ends today, and Making Tax Digital now applies at £30,000 of qualifying income.

That is measured on turnover — what you invoiced, before expenses and before CIS came off. £30,000 gross is roughly £24,000 in the bank after 20% deductions. Most full-time subcontractors in Surrey clear that line without trying.

If that is you: quarters end 5 Jul, 5 Oct, 5 Jan and 5 Apr, with updates due on the 7th of the following month.

Free 15-page MTD guide, no email required: klyara.com

W31 · Mon 12 Apr — Your first quarter

In MTD for the first time? Here is what the first quarter actually involves.

Keep digital records as you go. At the end of the quarter, send HMRC a summary of income and expenses by category, from compatible software. That is the whole submission.

It is not a tax return. Nothing is calculated, nothing is due, and you can correct it later. The tax is still settled once a year at the final declaration on 31 January.

If your books are current, it is about twenty minutes. klyara.com

W32 · Mon 19 Apr — CIS deadline + new year habits

CIS returns due today for the month to 5 April.

First month of a new tax year, which is the easiest time there will ever be to set a habit. Two worth having: snap every receipt the moment you get it, and put the CIS deadline in your phone as a recurring reminder on the 15th, not the 19th.

Four days of warning is the difference between a routine job and a bad evening.

klyara.com

W33 · Mon 26 Apr — The receipt habit

The single habit that makes everything else easy: photograph the receipt at the counter.

Ten seconds, while you are still standing there. Not collected in the van, not sorted at the weekend, not put in the glovebox with good intentions.

The ones people lose money on are always the same: fuel, parking, tools under £100, trade counter purchases on a personal card, PPE, and the Sunday emergency run.

Missed receipts are not a compliance problem. They are just tax you did not need to pay.

klyara.com

W34 · Mon 3 May — MTD update due 7 May

Your MTD quarterly update for 6 January to 5 April is due this Friday, 7 May.

If your records are current this is a ten-minute job. If they are not: connect the bank feed, categorise in bulk rather than one transaction at a time, add the cash purchases, submit.

Something reasonable on time beats something perfect late. It is a summary of totals and you can correct it afterwards.

klyara.com

W35 · Mon 10 May — The cost of a first employee

Thinking about taking someone on? The salary is not the cost.

Add employer's National Insurance, employer pension contributions, holiday pay, statutory sick pay when it happens, and the paid hours that are not billable. A useful rule of thumb is to budget 25-30% above gross salary for the direct statutory costs alone.

Then think about utilisation — how many of their paid hours you can actually bill. That is the number that decides whether the hire works.

And it means running PAYE, with real deadlines every month on top of your CIS ones.

klyara.com

W36 · Mon 17 May — Verification

CIS returns due Wednesday 19 May.

The two minutes that save contractors the most money: verify every subcontractor with HMRC before the first payment.

HMRC comes back with gross (0%), net (20%) or unmatched (30%). If you should have deducted 30% and deducted 20%, HMRC recovers the shortfall from you — not from him, and you have already paid him.

Verify first, every time, and keep the reference number.

Free CIS calculator: klyara.com

W37 · Mon 24 May — Why busy firms are skint

"We are busier than we have ever been and there is no money in the bank."

It is almost never a pricing problem. Four things drain cash while the P&L looks fine.

Your real payment terms, once you add the days you sat on the invoice. Retentions, held for a year or more. The VAT reverse charge float that disappeared in 2021. And CIS deductions sitting with HMRC.

On a firm turning over £400,000 those four together can be £50,000-£80,000 of working capital that exists on paper and not in the bank.

You cannot price your way out of that. You can only shorten it. klyara.com

W38 · Mon 31 May — Retentions, again

Second time of asking, because half the trade still has not done it.

Go and count your retentions. Three per cent held on jobs that finished eighteen months ago, defects period long over, nobody ever asked for it back.

Job, amount held, release date. Three columns. Diarise the release date and ask on the day.

Most firms that do this properly for the first time find between four and fifteen thousand pounds they had mentally written off.

Free tracker: klyara.com

W39 · Mon 7 Jun — Quoting

Most lost jobs are not lost on price. They are lost on the fourth day.

A quote sent within 24 hours wins far more often than the same quote sent four days later — not because it is better, but because by day four the customer has two others and you have become the one who seemed less bothered.

If you cannot get a full quote out same-day, send a holding message: "Thanks for seeing me today, I will have a full quote to you by Thursday." That one text keeps you in it.

And a number in a text message is not a quote. It is a number, and numbers only get compared.

klyara.com

Q4 — June to August 2027

W40 · Mon 14 Jun — CIS deadline

CIS returns due Saturday 19 June — file by Friday the 18th this month — the 19th falls on a Saturday, so work to Friday the 18th.

Where a deadline lands on a weekend, always work back to the last working day. HMRC's systems do not care what day it is, and neither does the penalty.

Nil months still need a nil return. Two minutes, or £100.

klyara.com

W41 · Mon 21 Jun — Getting paid faster

Four boring things that get builders paid faster. None of them are clever.

Invoice the day the work is done, not at month end. Invoice a named person, never "accounts". Ask the payment run date in week one, not week nine. Chase on a schedule — day 1, 7, 14, 21, then phone.

The firms that get paid are not the loudest. They are the most consistent.

Klyara's Trade and Pro plans include automated invoice chasing, so it happens whether or not you have time. klyara.com

W42 · Mon 28 Jun — Quarter end approaching

The MTD quarter ends Monday 5 July. Seven jobs, one a day, each under twenty minutes.

Connect the bank feed. Get the receipts in. Sort the mixed-use costs. Reconcile to zero unmatched. Reconcile CIS to your deduction statements. Check the reverse charge on your last ten invoices. Then look at the number.

Do one a day this week and you are closed off by Sunday, five weeks ahead of the deadline.

Free checklist: klyara.com

W43 · Mon 5 Jul — Quarter closed

The MTD quarter closed today. 6 April to 5 July is now a closed period.

The update is due 7 August — 33 days. The next quarter runs 6 July to 5 October.

If you worked through the checklist last week you are done, early, and can forget about it until August. If not, 33 days is comfortable. Start with the bank feed.

klyara.com

W44 · Mon 12 Jul — 31 July payment on account

A reminder that catches people every summer: your second payment on account is due 31 July.

It is normally half of last year's tax bill, paid in advance, and it arrives in the quietest cash month of the year for a lot of building firms.

If your income this year is genuinely lower than last, you can apply to reduce it — but reduce on evidence, not optimism, because HMRC charges interest on the shortfall.

klyara.com

W45 · Mon 19 Jul — CIS + a mid-year check

CIS returns due today for the month to 5 July.

Halfway through the tax year is a good moment for one question: have you filed and paid everything on time for the last twelve months?

If yes, and your construction turnover clears the threshold, you would pass the compliance test for gross payment status. Most subbies who would pass have simply never applied.

On £120,000 of labour invoicing, that is £24,000 that stays in your business instead of sitting with HMRC. klyara.com

W46 · Mon 26 Jul — Payment on account week

31 July this Saturday. Second payment on account due.

If it is unaffordable, talk to HMRC before the deadline rather than after. A Time to Pay arrangement agreed in advance is administrative. The same conversation in August, after a missed payment, comes with penalties attached.

And when it is paid: work out what next January looks like and start putting it aside monthly. A standing order of 25-30% of what lands is the change that turns January from an event into a date.

klyara.com

W47 · Mon 2 Aug — MTD update due 7 August

Your MTD quarterly update for 6 April to 5 July is due this Saturday, 7 August.

Remember what it is: a summary of totals from compatible software. Not a return, nothing to pay, correctable later.

File something reasonable on time rather than something perfect late.

Klyara handles the quarters for building firms across Guildford and Surrey, from £59 + VAT a month. klyara.com

W48 · Mon 9 Aug — The quiet month

August is the quietest admin month most building firms get. It is the best time of the year to fix the books rather than to ignore them.

Three things worth doing while it is quiet: connect every bank account properly, build the retention register you have been meaning to make, and check your reverse charge coding on the last twenty invoices.

None of them are urgent, which is exactly why they never happen in a busy month.

klyara.com

W49 · Mon 16 Aug — CIS deadline

CIS returns due Thursday 19 August for the month to 5 August.

The most commonly paid penalty in the whole scheme is the nil return — being registered as a contractor, paying nobody that month, and not filing.

Two minutes, or £100. And if you have genuinely stopped using subcontractors, ask HMRC to make the scheme inactive so it stops being a monthly obligation.

klyara.com

W50 · Mon 23 Aug — Planning for autumn

What a back office should actually look like, going into the busy autumn.

Records in by the 10th. CIS filed by the 19th. Reports by month end. Quarterly updates handled without anyone thinking about them. And four numbers you can see on the first of every month: margin by job, what you are owed by age, retentions outstanding, and the bank against the next thirty days.

If that is not what yours looks like, autumn is when it starts to hurt.

klyara.com

W51 · Mon 30 Aug — A year of this

A year of doing the books for building firms around Guildford and Surrey. The three things we found most often, in order.

Reverse charge coded wrongly — usually in both directions, because firms here do domestic and main-contractor work side by side.

Retentions nobody was tracking. Between four and fifteen thousand pounds, in almost every case.

And gross payment status not applied for, by firms that would comfortably pass all three tests.

None of those are exotic. They are just what happens when construction is the awkward ten per cent of someone's client book. klyara.com

W52 · Mon 6 Sep — The four numbers

If you only look at four numbers on the first of every month, make it these.

Gross margin by job — which jobs actually made money, not which felt busy.
What you are owed, by age — and specifically the over-90-days column.
Retentions outstanding, with release dates.
Bank balance against what is due out in the next thirty days.

Know those four and you are running a business. Not knowing them is doing a job that happens to have your name on the van.

klyara.com

Rewrite these from real conversations

All 52 are now written in full, so nothing is blocked. But by March you will have six months of real client conversations, and these should be rewritten from those rather than from my guesses. Keep the structure, replace the language with theirs.

The pattern to keep:

1. First sentence carries the whole post
2. A deadline, a number, or a specific mistake
3. Plain English, no jargon
4. One local reference
5. One link, one CTA

The four recurring anchors

Every year these repeat, and between them they carry roughly half the calendar:

The 19th of every month	CIS return and payment
7 Aug / 7 Nov / 7 Feb / 7 May	MTD quarterly updates
31 January	Final declaration + payment on account
5 April	Tax year end

Set a recurring reminder against each. You will never run out of things to post.

The line that matters

But by March you will have six months of real client conversations, and these should be rewritten from those rather than from my guesses.

In this part

Rewrite these from real conversations · The four recurring anchors